Tomorrow

A degree from FWBC requires a double major — one in our profession and one in Bible. We have set our hearts on being prepared. Tomorrow will have many opportunities for service.

Today

Every day is filled with a certain amount of routine — eating, sleeping, working, playing, studying. But in all things we aim to worship Him — today.

Now

To be there, to give attention to the multitude of details, to be patient, to love, to tell the "good news" and be whole hearted — that is our service now.

Year Verse

require of you?*

To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God.

North Central Accrediting Association Grants FWBC Candidate Status

At the end of January, Dr. Bostrom received from the executive board of North Central Association the official acceptance of the recommendation of the four-member team of North Central examiners who visited the school during three days in mid-November.

The recommendation came after an intensive self-study conducted by the college which was co-ordinated by Dick Baxter. The self-study process which began in early 1982, culminated in a document of 278 pages, which was submitted to the examiners in August. A team from North Central will conduct a review of the college in 1984.

Staff and faculty did some partying in the afternoon after the announcement by the departing examining team in November that it would recommend that we receive candidate status. Top: The self-study document. Middle: Residence Directors Peggy Zbinden, Ron Coffey, and Lisa Goodman. Bottom Left: Professors Birkey and Nickel. Bottom Right: The Demonds and Dick Baxter, co-ordinator of the Self-Study, discuss the decision.

New Dean, New Profs, New Faces

And "Old" Faces In New Places

Five new people joined the faculty in the fall semester:

Dr. Richard "Dick" Dugan, the long-awaited Academic Dean, comes from an administrative position at Northwestern Bible College, Essex Falls, New Jersey.

Dr. Clyde Root, Associate Professor of History, comes from a teaching post at Northwest Bible College of North Dakota.

Rev. David Biberstein, Chairman of the Pastoral Ministries Department, comes from a position as pastor of the Grace Missionary Church in Celina, Ohio.

Miss Deborah Rupp, Instructor of Physical Education and coach of the women's volleyball and basketball teams, comes from a position as coach at the Fort Wayne Christian School.

Dr. Merville Nicholls, Chairman of the Department of Business Administration, comes from a position as Professor of business and industrial management with the Indiana Technical College of Warsaw, Indiana.

Several people appeared in new positions:

Miss Sharon Mejeur returned to the college after receiving a master's degree from Western University at Kalamazoo to become Associate Dean of Student Development. She had served as resident advisor in Lexington.

Miss Barbara Coon, former Acting Dean of Student Development, became the new Registrar of the college.

Rev. Herald Welty, Associate Professor of Pastoral Ministries and Counseling, left the post as Registrar, where he had served for 22 years, and assumed full-time faculty responsibilities.

Thinking Musically

Senior Recital

Doug Hayes, a performance major, presented his senior recital in November, satisfying a graduation requirement for the Bachelor of Music in Piano.

During his four years here, Doug has been a piano pupil of Professor Ira Gerig. He had ten years of piano study prior to his work here.

Doug says he tries to practice at least twenty hours a week. His repertoire consists mainly of classical music, the works of Ravel being among his favorites. He has also studied jazz and enjoys that too.

Doug (as do all the music majors) has contributed much to our shared life at BC with his gift of music. He hopes to go on to graduate school and teach in a college in the future.

Thinking Academically

Tommy left in September for his year of study at J.T.S. Top: Marsha Byall pauses to choose a topic before writing the English Proficiency Exam. Above: Curt Alexander and Fred Hoenzsh, both on the staff of WBCL, head home for an evening of study.

Warm Fall Days Brought Classes Out

Above: A camping class on a field trip to inspect camp facilities. Right: Professor Cartmel's class in Introduction to Linguistics enjoy the comfort of the bleachers.

Fall Contemporary Issues Series

In the fall semester two of the contemporary issues series, coordinated by Professor Birkey, were presented. In September, Dr. Hoatson headed up the committee handling the series called "TV, Film, and Living Stage." The initial presentation was a film, "TV, The Enchanted Mirror." It was followed on successive days by a discussion and by a panel answering questions asked by the student body.

In November the Bible Department under the chairmanship of Dr. Wes Gerig presented a series on "War and Capital Punishment." A film showing the devastation of Hiroshima began the series. On the second day Dr. Wes presented the "Just War" position and on the third day Dr. J. C. Wenger of Goshen Biblical Seminary presented the pacifist position which was followed by questions from the floor. In the picture to the left, Tom Neal asks his question.

Many Memorable Chapels Offered

In the fall the walk from Witmer to chapel is a glorious experience in itself, that is if one arrives at Rudisill at the right moment and has allowed enough time to get in the chapel door before it closes. Remember how it feels to be outside the door while the rest are at worship?

Remember the praise chapels? Especially in the fall they are so filled with gratitude to God. And remember Dr. Bostrom's clear messages about God's guidance in all areas of our lives? "God will speak to me in a way that I can handle," and "He doesn't tell me just once and give up if I don't hear!"

Remember Pastor Biberstein's sermon on worship? "In true worship the congregation is the actor—God is the audience." "Worship is a verb—not a noun." "One doesn't come for a worship experience; one comes to do worship."

Remember the music chapels, the President's forums, the communion chapels? And remember all the great sermons we heard from the pastoral ministries students and other students: Bryan Thompson, Chris Givler, Adrian Halverstadt, Brent Adams, Steve McFadden, Rodney Schuler, Don Bettinger?

It was a good year with quality chapels and varied experiences. Something for everyone, and everything really good for everyone.

Women's Volleyball: Playing As A Unit

Jo Manner (10) back sets for Cindy Sauder.

The 1982 volleyball season began with very exciting games.

That opening match with Bethel saw both teams fighting for every point that was scored; however, Bethel won that match in 11-15, 15-13, 10-15. Not only was the action on the court exciting, but also the cheering and support given by the fans was great.

Another highlight this season was the match against Huntington College. The key factors that helped to put us on top were concentration, determination regardless of the score, and most of all, the team play. That night the team was truly a single unit, not individual ones on the court. We won in the best of five, with 8-15, 15-13, 15-11, 7-15, and 16-14.

District Tournament did not go as well as we had hoped. We did not play our best.

Overall, it was a good season, with a great deal of learning about volleyball, each other, and ourselves.

Soccer Team Has Winning Season

This third season of varsity soccer was the best yet with 9 wins, 6 losses, and 1 tie, qualifying us for the NCCAA District playoffs.

Nine wins represents more victories than we acquired in the two previous years combined. Also the roster of men increased from 14 to 25, three of whom were recognized in the national statistical polls. Jim Hughes, sophomore center halfback and team captain, was ranked #1 in NCCAA for assists.

Appointment to the NCCAA All District Team went to Ray Hylton, the team's leading scorer, and to Jim Hughes. While we are proud of these national honors, the most significant statistic, not kept in any of our scorebooks, is the attitude with which these men competed. In my six years of coaching, I have not coached a team of which I am more proud because of their cooperation and Christlike attitudes while playing. Each one of these men is a real gentleman whom I respect deeply.

The team will lose three members due to graduation: halfback Craig Vincent, who was the team's third leading scorer; fullback and former defensive player of the year 1981, Hal Lehman; and halfback Brent Casper, who transferred in for his senior year from Moody Bible Institute.

Each of this year's team award winners will be back for the '83 season: Offensive Player of the Year, Graham West, who concluded his season with 14 goals; Defensive Player of the Year, our sweeper, John Hughes; and Most Improved Player, goalie, Jeff Burger. Falcon Soccer is looking good for next year!

Intramural Teams Evenly Matched

Under the student leadership of Dave Gould, a new mix was tried replacing wing teams in order to give opportunity for a wider field for friendships and for better games with a sprinkling of good players on every team.

The six ten-man teams began play the second week of September and ended in November after twelve games when the rains cancelled the final matches. The All Star game played in mid-season was the memorable event.

Fall Campus Days: A Varied Package

The annual Fall Campus Days in late October brought many visitors to campus.

On Thursday pastors convened for their day to hear speakers Dr. Leonard DeWitt and Dr. Lowell Becker.

On Friday morning classes were cancelled for Career Day. Mr. William Secor, a professor of Counseling Psychology at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, gave the S.E. Day message about career opportunities. Students then had the rest of the day to visit the resource people at the over thirty exhibits of the church, para-church, seminary, and grad-school organizations gathered in the gym. Many took the opportunity to consider the future and glean useful information.

Saturday, October 30, was Parents' Day, and students put out the royal welcome mat for their families. Many watched the soccer game together on an overcast, cool, and lovely afternoon. And we won the game 3-1.

In the evening there was the final performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's The Pirates of Penzance, presented by the Music Department with Dr. Jay Platte directing.

The weekend was a very pleasant and helpful one.

"Pirates" Musicians Do Well

Top: Frederic is startled by the threats of the Pirate King (Tony Trejo) and Ruth (Laura Coffman). Above: "Stay, Frederic, stay!" sings Mable (Susie Rose).

Nationally this was the year for the resurrection of the "Pirates of Penzance," and BC got in on the act.

The "crew" put together by Director Jay Platte was a pretty lively one, and the Concert Band kept everything hopping and humming in that unforgettable Gilbert and Sullivan way.

Briefly the story goes that "Pirate" Frederic (Terry Sordelet), just turned 21, is torn between leaving his friends in the pirate band and following his conscience which informs him that pirating is bad. Poor Frederic in addition has a conflict of the heart. His middle-aged nanny Ruth (Laura Coffman), who has looked after him since he was captured by the pirates when a baby, insists on marrying him now that he is of age; but Frederic has other ideas once he has seen Mabel, the fairest of the Major's ten beautiful daughters. Of course, in this delightful comic operetta all ends well!

Married Students' Fellowship

The married students' monthly outing provides a welcome break in the routine of survival and a chance for like-minded people to chat awhile.

Great Labor Day Picnic

The Labor Day Picnic occurs at a perfect time. Classes have started and seem easy so far. Term papers and projects lie so far in the future that no one gives them a second thought. It's good to be back on campus among old friends or to be on campus for the first time making new friends. You know it is going to be a good year!

Student Association under President Bill Fry planned a lot of good mixers for the afternoon — volleyball, tug-of-war, and races of one sort and another.

And then there was the Saga picnic with the dee-licious barbeque chicken with all the trimmings served in FWBC's own private woods by Lexington dorm.

In the evening the chapel was the place to be for songs of praise and testimonies to God's goodness and grace.

WINTER

Somewhere Between Thanksgiving And

Somewhere between Thanksgiving and Christmas we found time to finish those projects, study for exams, and party. In November the Leightner Committee invited everyone to a Christmas decorating party in The Hollow so that we would start considering the meaning of Christmas early enough to consider it properly.

December 4 the annual Christmas Candlelight Buffet and Concert brought the BC family together for the evening. The Chorale, Choral Union, Concert Band, and Shiloh and Shekinah presented the musical Christmas packages.

The dorms each had Christmas parties too. Lexington's party is pictured here. And there was an open house after a Falcon game hosted by Janel Bowman. On a Thursday evening all were invited to come for an hour of praise in the chapel (sponsored by SMF and Student Association).

For three days in January the campus hummed with excitement as radio volunteers helped take pledge calls and address envelopes. A supply of colorful food dishes came in as thank you gifts from the radio community and encouraged the tired workers. The pledges went over the top on the morning of the third day and continued coming. Sharathon went 50 thousand plus beyond its projected goal!

"His Design": Winter Seminar Event

Saturday, Feb. 5, the first "His Design" seminar brought over sixty BC college women together for a day of interaction and workshops on the general theme "Who Am I Becoming?"

Four workshops were held in the morning (two of them repeated) followed by a luncheon in the Private Dining Room and a panel discussion in the chapel.

It is hoped that this event, initiated by Lisa Goodman, will become an annual event. Its logo is the snowflake.

Those Worshipful Winter Chapels

Dynamic Tony Compolo (also our Special Events speaker), Chairman of Dept. of Sociology at Eastern College, St. Davids, PA, spoke from the parable of the sower. "You are dangerous. Holiness is an aliveness in the Holy Spirit." ... "There are those who don't understand that Christ is a resurrected being." ... "The seed planted in you withers away if you do not have a group to meet with—a group that can pray when you can't."

... "Like thorns, two things will destroy you: disobedience and materialism." ... "Kisses are like peaches, prunes, and alfalfa." ... "Buy nothing for people who have everything" ... "Last night 10 thousand kids died of starvation." ... "All doubt stems from disobedience to God." ... "We have been trying to forget the Rich Young Ruler." ... "The evidence of being filled with the Spirit is having a heart broken by what breaks God's heart." ... "No thrill beyond bearing fruit for Jesus — 30 fold, 60 and 100 fold!"

John Sullivan, maintenance man, told of his putting the gospel in the language that prisoners understand. "If can't walk the walk—don't talk the talk." ... "The only rehabilitation system that works is Jesus." Since his first seminar in prison ministry in 1979, 140 prisoners have come to attend regularly.

Sonja Strahm gives a lesson about Balaam's self will and "donkey talk." "Stretched before you is the land of Moab." ... "Will you choose self-will (stubbornness, evasiveness, listlessness, fickleness); or God's will (gratitude, obedience, direction, service)?" ... "God may sometimes use even the ridiculous to try to move us in the right direction."

Middle: Chapels almost always contain worshipful songs of faith and joy and commitment: here Kevin Sowers, Ron Coffey, and Dave Kalt sing one based on a Psalm, the music and adaptation written by Dave.

Staley Lecture Series — Lockerbie

The theme was "Contemporary Culture in Christian Perspective." Classes were canceled Jan. 20 and 21, but students were involved in lecture-listening anyway — five of them. The titles were "Thinking in Christian Categories," "A Call for Christian Humanists," "Christian Schooling: Passing on the Blessings," "Living in Sanctified Worldliness," and "God's Game of Hide-and-Seek."

Also there were two provocative feedback sessions. The music snarl got worked over again with a new semantic twist — is it appropriate to tell God you "appreciate him"?

A highlight of the series was a narrative-type lecture recounting an anniversary visit to New York City at Christmas. Surprisingly, God was alive and well; the witness there could be known by all who had eyes to see and ears to hear.

Time For Frankness

In a Contemporary Issues Series the topic of "Sexual Awareness" was ably handled by Denny Williams and Cheri Auman, part-time instructor in Psychology.

A Biblical orientation to the topic was given the first session. The rightness of human sexuality was affirmed.

In a second session, Mrs. Auman gave insights into understanding how we rightly or wrongly react to our sexuality. She emphasized that there is a need to be comfortable with who we are. Thus "Our worth as a sexual person is not dependent upon having the opposite sex associate with us." She also gave important insights into establishing a healthy and enduring relationship with the opposite sex.

Above: Third session: a time to step to the mike and direct a question to Cheri or Denny. An amazingly relaxed atmosphere was maintained, and many important questions were answered.

It Was A Very Good Year

We had a 2-12 season, but we had a very good year. When we were behind, we played as if we were behind only by a point! Thus we made enormous improvement between the first practices and the last ones. And sometimes in the games we were behind by only one point. In the Moody game we were two points ahead at the buzzer. We were far from feeling defeated during the season because we knew we had the potential.

The trip to Illinois gave the team a special time together and was a positive way to end the season.

Falcons Finish Strong!

The five victories at the end of the season indicate the true nature of the Falcons' strength.

At Lincoln Christian in a "cracker box" gym after traveling six hours, the Falcons held Lincoln Christian College to 45 points. And every one of the Falcons played in this game. After the trip to Moody the next day, the Falcons were able to hold them to 54 points, with all of the team again playing.

Excellent team defense gives the winning edge.

Mike plans to teach music in public high school.

A Great Pops Concert Festival!

In February, the annual Pops 'N Pizza" festival Concert was well attended by many off-campus guests.

The fifty-member band under the baton of Dana Collins kept the tempo lively during a delightful evening of light, well-known (pops) music. Saga and the student helpers kept the pizza coming, and coming, and coming.

The much anticipated musical event of the evening was the performance of Tchaikovsky's

"1812 Overture, Op. 49," with heart-stirring artillery effects (and aided by the Handbell Choir of First Missionary Church).

Some other pieces were Morton Gould's "American Salute," George Gershwin's "Strike Up the Band," and Richard Rodgers' music from The Sound of Music.

Several pieces were conducted by Rolin Mains, student conductor for the 1982-83 season.

Sadie Hawkins Gets Her Man

On February 4 the Sophomore Class hosted the annual Sadie Hawkins Banquet. This year the gals entertained their dates in the B.C. cafeteria, which was decorated with red, white, and pink streamers and large red hearts. Guitar music, played by Bob Ferguson, accompanied the dinner conversation; and later in the evening, the friends and couples were entertained by the movie South Pacific. In retrospect Tina Throesch stated, "Sadie Hawkins was less formal this year, but I really enjoyed myself."

It Was "Just Like The Waltons"

On March 15, sophomores broke loose from the books for a 24-hour retreat experience at Camp Adventure. The family-like closeness generated humorous comparisons with the Waltons.

The retreat was a chance to relax, play games (like "This is a spoon! A what?"), sing, and worship. The communion time was a highlight.

This open-house evening in Schultz Hall was especially for off-campus guests — a chance to invite a friend and enjoy an evening of activity — perhaps even talk a bit.

The miniature golf course was set up for a second time and provided an enthusiastic group with some inexpensive entertainment. Again there were contest awards and door prizes.

More Picketeters Wanted

Every week there are club meetings with songs and fun, mid-week services, Sunday school classes, visits to aged and ill, Child Evangelism, and many other projects. Lots of people would be poorer if B.C. students didn't go forth from campus in a sincere effort to fulfill the Great Commission here and now.

The outreach is significant. In effect this year 289 students had contact with 204 different churches and organizations. The 3 performing groups reached 111 churches and organizations in a four state area. The 93 co-operating churches and organizations (representing 20 denominations) gave opportunities for service on a weekly basis.

B.C. students appreciate the privilege to use what they have in labors of love for the Lord through the Christian Service program — and while doing so to get professional help in areas that need improving.

In the midst of classes, work, and Christian Service projects, some students found that they could make time to shoulder their placard for a two or three hour twirl around the front premises of one of three porno bookstores in the city.

Eight times throughout the year the BC Update listed the names of the volunteers for the three shifts. These names included staff, faculty, and administration as well. Always the plea was for a few more. A few times a shift had to be cancelled, but usually the commitment was met.

In January Pastor Yawberg spoke in chapel about the progress made and gave specific prayer requests for the support of key people in city government.

Above: Angie Binkley, Brenda Boyer, Carolyn Bortz, and Doug Jones join in making the visible statement against the sale of porno.

SMF Keeps Students Informed

The fifteen Student Missionary Fellowship chapels, scheduled for every other Friday throughout the year, were varied — always informative with touch of humor (Hey, Bub) lurking somewhere in telling about the "Mission Possible."

During first semester, Sunday evenings in the Upper Room gave opportunity to catch the excitement and vision of the summer missionaries as they told their experiences with the help of slides. In January "Hunger Pangs," a weekend 24-hour fast, gave insights into the great problem of world hunger.

Weekly prayer groups met to become better informed about the needs of the peoples of the great areas of the world and to pray for them.

One of the outstanding missionary experiences of the year was the opportunity to hear Dr. J. Herbert Kane (the author of the missions text used here) speak on the subject "What in the World is God Doing?" The answer was that especially in the Third World God's work can be clearly seen today. The balance of spiritual power is about to shift from the Western World to the East. "God rides upon the storm." In China the Communists could send the missionaries out of the country, but they could not send God out!

The student giving for the year ($4,347) made possible the exchange program with JTS (Donavan Coley with us and Tommy Logan there) and overseas projects for radio and new church evangelism.

Various activities helped earn money for the ever hungry budget, such as a rug sale, Leaf-a-thon, and the showing of the film "The God Makers," which was revelatory concerning the inner workings of the Mormon Church.

This year's SMF officers were Don Bettinger, pres.; Dennis Kesler, program; Jon Burkey, treas.; and Chris Brown, sec. Advisors are Daryl Cartmel and Bill Gerig.

Youth Conference Team Work — 1983

The theme "running to win," taken from I Cor. 9:24, captured well the spirit of this Youth Conference. The whole weekend was a smooth run in spite of very dark, wet April days. All the participants can accept praise for hard work and team work.

Seventy-fifth Annual Commencement

Saturday, May 7, at 10 A.M. there was standing room only in Founders Auditorium. The parade from the library and across Rudisill had been cancelled because of the threat of rain, but the joyous, regal music of the band revived any flagging spirits. Then came the hushed moment and the familiar "Pomp and Circumstance" began, co-ordinating the steps of the 73 graduating seniors and the 10 A.A. graduates.

The invocation was given by graduating senior Miss Robin Hoatson, and the prayer after the scripture reading was given by Rev. Kenneth Rupp, father of Martha.

Dr. Rambo, President of Nyack College, delivered the commencement address, "Hasten Unto God, Hasten Into His World." The scripture was from II Cor. 5:14-21.

After the conferring of degrees, the front lawn was the scene of many congratulations and expressions of gratitude and encouragement. The rains held off until later in the day when there were many small gatherings to continue the celebrations.

Baccalaureate

This last chapel of the year was an entire college family gathering. The sermon entitled "The Lord for Whom You Wait," was given by Dr. Robert Hughes. He encouraged the seniors to fly like eagles as their year verse indicates, but to note that they do not have wings and must wait for the Lord. "God is filling His name full of content . . . He wants His name known around the world."
